PROFILE

I am a forth year Computer Engineering student with various volunteer experiences in different NGOs. I had a chance to develop my leadership and teamwork skills through experience working on complex initiatives with cross-functional teams in a very fast-moving environment. I'm deeply passionate about machine learning and artificial intelligence, and I aspire to specialize in this field. My enthusiasm for machine learning and artificial intelligence drives me to continually develop myself and seize every opportunity that comes my way. I am committed to becoming an expert in this field and contributing meaningfully to its advancement. SunExpress and TÜBİTAK internships, where I worked on ABAP, significantly enhanced my programming, SQL, and clean code skills. These experiences have further strengthened my technical foundation.
